

Youth Declaration
1st Summit on Leaving No One Behind
Geneva, Switzerland
7-8 February 2019

In order to achieve SDG 6 by 2030, we the youth will promote young people in discovering innovative solutions, in the decision-making processes, and in raising awareness about the human rights to water and sanitation.

We want to spotlight youth-led innovations, especially nature-based ones that solve local WASH challenges.

At the decision-making table, we want our decisions to be valued by ensuring our interest are reflected in the outcomes. We need to be included in policies that enable us to first access quality education, and that enables us to access finances, supporting our innovations for water.

We need the provisions of our seniors, to respond to our specific needs and diversity, by promoting our voices on real platforms where our voices are heard, and our innovations implemented.

We want to make the basic human rights to water and sanitation famous through advocacy and awareness at all levels.

Through an intergenerational approach, we the youth believe that the global agenda of SDG 6 can be accomplished, ensuring that no one is left behind.
